

PARTIDA TEQUILA

La Nueva Tradición

PARTIDA REPOSADO (AGED SIX MONTHS)

Partida Reposado is smooth and rich with Partida's signature touch of sweetness. Aged for six months in French Canadian oak, Partida Reposado delivers nuances of flavor, tequila drinkers may not have thought possible, without the overbearing smoky flavor common to so many Reposados. Beautiful light amber color with golden tones, transparent and clean, brilliant and full bodied. Aromas of cocoa and vanilla, hazelnut and almond, and a deep, rich finish. A stunningly elegant Reposado that is the model of finesse.

PARTIDA BLANCO (NOT AGED)

Redolent of blue agave, Partida Blanco is brilliant, clean and crisp; very floral, with notes of citrus, fresh herbs and tropical fruit. Well balanced with a fresh, pure agave flavor and a pleasant finish that lingers gently on the palate. The most distinctive Blanco, truest to agave with remarkable quality and individuality.

PARTIDA AÑEJO (AGED 18 MONTHS)

Aged 18 months, a rarity even among so-called super-premium brands, Partida Añejo exhibits a depth of flavor that only comes from advanced aging. Intense golden color with ochre and copper tones; clean and full bodied. A fruity aroma with notes of cherry, almond, dried fruit and spices. Soft honey fruit tones, with flavors of banana, chocolate, and sweet pear with a finish that is spectacular. Tequila to be savored slowly.

Absolute clarity; silvery hue. The opening nosing passes pick up savory and curiously mescal-like scents of rubber inner tube, pickle brine, and papaya; later sniffings detect green olive, vinyl, new saddle leather, and kale; easily one of the most distinctive blanco tequila bouquets I've come across in years and also one of the finest and truest to agave. The palate entry is silky smooth, off-dry, and lightly peppery; at midpalate, the taste profile highlights the vegetal side of the flavor, then switches gears as it nears the finish, turning more elegant and gently peppery and lightly honeyed. Remarkable quality and individuality.

The pale gold/flat amber color is impeccably pure. The initial whiffs encounter reined-in, but stunningly elegant scents of sawdust, pine, and vegetal agave; aeration stimulates deeper aromas that include old leather, stamp glue, cigarette ash, and pimento; without any doubt, one of the two or three finest reposado bouquets in existence. The palate entry is delicate, piquant, and peppery, yet understated and refined; the midpalate stage is notable for its sweet, honey-like core flavor and its harmonious supplemental tastes of cocoa, milk chocolate, and chili pepper. The finish is long, gently sweet and the model of finesse. The Bentley of reposado tequila and, in my mind, the new benchmark.

The harvest gold hue shows a bit of dark sediment. In the first inhalations, I pick up keenly crisp and spicy notes of black pepper and oak; seven more minutes in the glass stir up plumper aromas, including green pepper, vanilla, and cocoa butter. The palate entry is unbelievably elegant and gently sweet with tastes of fresh honey and vanilla; the midpalate stage adds seductive flavours of buttercream, steamed asparagus, and sweet oak. The aftertaste advances the honey sweetness without losing the vegetal/peppery agave core. The Partida tequilas are simply the finest line of tequilas that money can buy right now. The bar has been raised to lofty heights. Spirit Journal Rating:
